Instructions:

In the 1700s the French explorers traded with the American Indians in this region. The Frenchmen sailed up the Mississippi River from New Orleans to the Arkansas River and into what is now Kay County.

As a French explorer, navigate your way to each of the four related stops in the Marland Grand Home on the following four pages of this journal. When you arrive at each location, complete the questions on each page related to each stop in your journal.

When you have finished the bookset assignment, have the staff at the Marland Grand Home stamp your journal on the cover page.

Happy Travels!
